DIRECT TESTIMONY OF PATSY SPEIGHTS (NNA T-2)

1 My name is Patsy Speights. I am appearing on behalf of the National 2 Newspaper Association, of which my newspaper is a member.

3 I am editor and general manager of the Prentiss Headlight, a weekly 4 newspaper located in Prentiss, Mississippi. The purpose of my testimony is to 5 demonstrate to the Postal Rate Commission the hardships placed upon a small 6 newspaper when mail delivery fails. I will cite two illustrative examples and will also 7 provide some information about subscribers' complaints.

8 Prentiss is in south central Mississippi, approximately 120 miles north of the 9 Gulf of Mexico and 60 miles south of Jackson, the Mississippi state capital.

10 The Headlight is published on Wednesdays. The newspaper is the primary 11 source of local information for readers in a 30 square mile area. Most of my readers 12 are engaged in manufacturing and industrial jobs.

13 The Headlight is owned by Prentiss Publishers, Inc., a subsidiary of the Daily 14 Leader in Brookhaven, MS. The Jacobs family, who own and operate the Leader and 15 the Headlight, are active community leaders and vigorous defenders of the 16 importance of community journalism. I have placed a copy of a recent issue of the 17 newspaper on file as NNA Library Reference #3.

18 Besides me, the Headlight staff consists of one full-time person and six part-19 time persons. My responsibilities cover the full gamut of activities needed to produce 20 a weekly newspaper for a small community. I write the news stories, sell and 21 compose the ads, take pictures, paginate and pasteup copy, haul the pages to the 1 printer, sort the mailed copies, bundle them, prepare mailbags and deliver the mail to 2 the post office. In addition, I manage our corporate finances, represent the Headlight 3 in our small town, supervise our small staff and provide an attentive ear to residents 4 who drop by to visit about local concerns.

5 Our total paid circulation as of Nov. 5, 1997, was 2,665, of which 1,102 are 6 entered at the Prentiss delivery office, ZIP Code 39474. Of that total, 312 pieces are 7 entered at the DDU level, 294 pieces at the all-others level and the rest are mailed 8 out of the trade area. The balance of our paid circulation is delivered by our own 9 carriers.

10 Our newspaper performs a number of worksharing functions to comply with 11 regulations, save money and improve our delivery. We have a software package 12 that breaks out the ADC, 3/5 digit, basic, DDU and in-county levels and prints our 13 mailing statements (3541R).

14 The weekly report from our software yields information in a format to 15 correspond to bag labels--which themselves create a new difficulty for us because it 16 often takes 4-6 weeks to receive new labels from USPS. In that case, I hand address 17 the label. This has been a problem at times when the postmaster was unsure of the 18 proper sorting for the most direct destination.

19 We have chronic and persistent problems in achieving consistent mail service 20 for our readers, particularly in mail destined for addresses outside our county. My 21 appearance before the Rate Commission is to demonstrate the lengths to which we 22 must go to see that our mail reaches our readers.

1 In a normal week, we deliver the newspaper mail to Prentiss by 2 p.m. on 2 Wednesdays. We load the bundles ourselves onto flat carts, with the DDU copies on 3 one cart, the copies for Carson (MS) office 39427 on another cart and Bassfield (MS) 4 39421 on a third and the rest of the mail on yet another flat cart. We drop the mail on 5 a dock and push it ourselves into the appropriate rooms in the post office. A contract 6 driver picks up the carts destined for other offices and delivers them to those offices.

7 Last year, at the height of the Christmas shopping season, we had a lesson in 8 how fallible the system is.

9 We dropped our papers on the dock as usual. The contract driver picked them 10 up.

11 But he failed to drop them off at Bassfield or Carson.

12 The people in the Bassfield and Carson post offices know that my papers 13 should be in their offices by Thursday morning. But during this week, on December 14 19, 1996, a Bassfield Post Office employee phoned to say my papers did not arrive.
15 Shortly after that I got a similar call from Carson. I began to worry about my 16 Christmas edition. I knew the carts had been picked up from Prentiss, but where 17 were they?

18 Finally, the mystery was solved. The Bassfield employee called to say she had 19 seen the driver's truck parked in back of her office and it appeared the driver had 20 simply neglected to unload them. My papers were still on the truck.

21 In order to get my papers delivered, I had to locate that truck myself. I got 22 permission to take the Bassfield postmaster to open the door of the contract carrier's 23 truck, which was parked outside the Bassfield office, so I could retrieve my own mail.

1 I found it all on the carrier's truck and wound up dropping it all off myself at the 2 necessary stops along the usual routes. No one offered a rebate on my postage. And 3 my rural readers missed their paper for an additional day--at a very bad time of the 4 year. Needless to say, my advertisers were not very happy with me.

5 This unusual drop shipping exercise was a one-time occurrence, but service 6 problems in general are far from unusual.

7 One of our most important towns is New Hebron, Mississippi, 39140. I have 41 8 subscribers there. Most of them live within our county. They expect next-day delivery, 9 same as our other area subscribers do. But New Hebron post office is in the next 10 county, so these subscriber copies are technically regular rate mail.

11 I used to drop my mail for New Hebron at Prentiss just as I do the mail for 12 Bassfield and Carson. But after reclassification, delivery complaints began to soar.
13 The postmaster suggested we change from brown bags to green ones and we did, 14 but delivery did not improve. Then he suggested orange bags and we switched, but 15 delivery did not improve. Finally we were told to put our papers in a box with a green 16 lid. The postmaster hand-taped a message to the lid: Expedite. Do Not Open. Deliver 17 Direct to New Hebron, Mississippi 39140. That didn't work either. It is clear to me that 18 the mail doesn't care what color it travels in: the problem is where it has to go to get 19 to New Hebron.

20 Before reclassification, the New Hebron mail left Prentiss and went to 21 Hattiesburg about 40 miles away. After reclassification, the route changed from 22 Prentiss to Hattiesburg to Gulfport, down to New Orleans and then back again after it 23 is sorted in the New Orleans ADC. Those newspapers travel further in a week than I

1 do in some years. And the ironic thing is that New Hebron is only 18 miles from 2 Prentiss. In fact, I have subscribers less than five miles from my door who are served 3 by Rt. 1 New Hebron. They just happen to be served by a post office in another 4 county, so their newspapers have to go around Carter's barn to get to them.

5 Eventually, the situation became intolerable. Now, every Wednesday I drive 18 6 miles to New Hebron and back again and I enter those copies through exceptional 7 dispatch directly at New Hebron. Because of the rural roads, it takes about 45 8 minutes to get the mail delivered to the New Hebron post office and make it back to 9 my home 19 miles away. This is at the end of a long 12 hour day. But the Postal 10 Service offers no discount for this extra effort or cost under the present rules. My only 11 satisfaction is that my New Hebron readers now receive their paper on time.

12 My specific problem with the Bassfield mail may have been an unusual one, 13 although delayed delivery is certainly not atypical. But the New Hebron situation is 14 one that I believe many small town publishers face. With the new rules for sacking 15 and packaging for Periodicals, our newspapers have traveled widely--but our service 16 has declined.

17 The final concern I would like to raise with the Commission is about my 18 various readers scattered around the country.

19 It may seem to some business people that these out-of-town readers are not 20 very important. They don't shop in our stores. They don't attend civic events listed in 21 the paper. They may not visit my office with news very often. But they are important 22 to our mandate as a local newspaper. Sometimes they are senior citizens with 23 seasonal homes, or college students whom we certainly do wish to encourage as

1 future readers. Sometimes they are former residents, or people on temporary posts 2 who will return to Prentiss. In every case, they are people who provide some small 3 revenue stream for our little paper by paying for an annual subscription at $28 a year.
4 When we lose them, we lose more than money. We lose loyalty and a part of our 5 franchise. And our out-of-town readers lose a service that helps them stay connected 6 to a place and to people who are important to them.

7 Delivery to these people has long been a problem for some reason. But the 8 complaints I've received in recent years clearly are on the increase. To test the depth 9 of the problem, I put a flyer into every mailed newspaper in June 4, 1997. I asked 10 subscribers to tell me when they received that edition. I am attaching their responses 11 to my testimony as my Exhibit 1.

12 Among the things I learned from my readers was that it actually took 14 days 13 for the Headlight to reach Kettering, Ohio, and nine days to get to Richmond, CA. I 14 learned I had 67 people who were owed an apology for poor service. I consider those 15 readers to be readers at risk. I am frustrated that I can do so little to satisfy these 16 people.

17 My newspaper spends approximately $56,000 a year with USPS for delivery of 18 our newspaper and our weekly shopper. To the Postal Service's $52 billion 19 enterprise, that isn't much. But to our newspaper it is a lot. But it is wasted money if 20 the newspaper is not delivered on time. With our small market, every reader is an 21 important part of the business.

22 The amount of home delivery that we handle with our own carriers came about 23 as a direct result of rising postal rates. At one time, virtually all of our 2,665 copies

1 would have been mail-delivered. But carrier delivery isn't possible for us for copies 2 that are delivered just outside the in-town area. We must rely upon the Postal Service 3 as our circulation manager. And we certainly cannot hand-carry a copy to Kettering, 4 Ohio, although I sometimes wonder if we couldn't get it there faster if we did.

5 The Postal Service has been an important business partner to us. Our 6 relationship with our local postmaster is excellent and I feel the Postal Service as an 7 institution is a vital part of our American democracy. It does feel to me as if the Postal 8 Service has gotten too grand for us in recent years--so busy with its major accounts 9 and its new machines that it has forgotten our little newspapers. But our forebears 10 were the publishers who helped this system of universal delivery come into being and 11 I believe that universal delivery should remain the Postal Service's primary concern.

12 I am willing to do my part to sort the mail and prepare it according to all of the 13 rules, even as the rules have become increasingly complex. But when I am doing the 14 work for the post office, I believe I should be compensated for that work. I am paying 15 the Postal Service the same rate for my newspapers delivered to New Hebron as I 16 am for newspapers delivered to Hattiesburg, but to reach New Hebron I am buying 17 gas, depreciating my car and spending my own time. Those contributions are 18 significant to me and to my business. They should be recognized by the Postal 19 Service.

20 Therefore, I request that the Postal Rate Commission consider recommending 21 a discount for these short-haul newspapers that are entered through exceptional 22 dispatch. Furthermore, I hope the Commission will take into account the difficulties 23 plaguing Periodicals mail delivery around the country when it determines our rates.

1 Even with the moderate increases proposed in this case, small newspaper publishers 2 are overpaying when they receive no value because angry subscribers drop the 3 paper. The value of this service has declined for us in recent years and I request that 4 the Commission acknowledge this problem in its recommendations to the USPS 5 Board of Governors. I request a moderation of our rates because of these problems.
6 I believe strong encouragement from the Commission will help the Postal Service 7 maintain its determination to address these problems and help us to satisfy our 8 readers.

When are you receiving your Prentiss Headlight?

Dear Mrs. Speegate,
I am glad you have checked on the time the paper is received.

Recently I received 2 issues at one time, one almost a month late.

I appreciate receiving it on Sat. after being published on Wed.

I enjoy the paper especially your article even though I now know few people in that area.

Sincerely,
Kathlyn Goforth
